

restricted alluvial digging

Contributed by Administrator
Monday, 29 October 2007

restricted alluvial digging. A term used in the Republic of South Africa for alluvial diamond diggings upon which the number of persons who can work each claim is restricted by the government. See proclaimed area, deproclaimed area.