

Rose D'Angleterre Diamond

Contributed by Administrator
Monday, 29 October 2007

Rose D'Angleterre Diamond. A large (weight unknown) circular-shaped diamond that was bequeathed to Anne of Austria by Cardinal Mazarin after his death in 1661. Its later history is unknown. See mazarin, cardinal rose recoupee. An alternate name for double-Dutch (or double-Holland) rose cut.

JULES.

rosette. An alternate term for a rose-cut diamond. See rose cut rosie. An abbreviated term for a rose-cut diamond. See rose cut